

codethecity

ABERDEEN 2014

full weekend civic hacking event weekend of 21st & 22nd June
TO BE HELD IN THE MESTON BUILDING
UNIVERSITY OF ABERDEEN

Our cities are changing, life in our cities is changing. Access to services is one of the key benefits of locating in a city, but many services are difficult to access. Even finding a service can be a struggle.

We aim to fix that.

At codethecity you'll help a passionate group of volunteers to build new tools and services to help people in your community access existing services and start new ones.

Over the course of the weekend you will help to deliver prototype services to assist our communities in accessing existing services, and to help facilitate the creation of new services. These prototypes will take the form of websites, web apps and more.

With access to exciting technology and data, and supported by experts in various fields, this is an excellent opportunity to work closely with a passionate team on problems that matter.

At Code the City we focus on some key areas:

- Achieving social good
- Improving local services
- Sharing skills and knowledge across disciplines
- Using and creating open data and Open Government Data (OGD)
- Open source
- Quick delivery of real results

This is a free, fully catered event where coders and non-coders can work together to help improve our city.

For full information, and to register your place please visit codethecity.org and follow us on twitter.com/codethecity

HTTP://CODETHECITY.ORG